cal leaders were repeatedly blocked by court rulings to-day.
While Martin W. Littleton's several attempts to put Colonel Roosevelt's conversation before the jury, apparently to show that the Colonel favored Newberry's candidacy, featured the day's session, two bits of evidence offered were considered by the prosecution as having an important bearing on the conspiracy charge.

James Sweinhart, head of the New York bureau of "The Detroit News," said Frederick Cody, a defendant, told him in New York:

im in New York;
"The lid is off in Michigan and the my is the limit." Walter Chappelle, editor of a weekly newspaper in Harrisville, Mich., teatified that Benjamin F. Reed, Deputy State Labor Inspector, and another defendant, had solicited him to become a county chairman in the Newberry organization, and had told him:

'The freight will be paid."

Both Sides Often Overruled

The campaign of James W. Helme for the Democratic Senatorial nomination as again brought into the trial prough the testimony of Van A. Comis, a deputy sheriff and private etective from Jackson. Loomis said to had been hired by Charles V. De and, a defendant, to circulate Helmo cominating petitions. He admitted receiving $20 for the work, and said he ad partially filled two petitions having pace for twenty-five names each.

throughout the Middle West, Director General Hires to-day issued a general order to railroads serving the grain-producing areas which in effect turns all available box-car equipment into the grain transportation service to the exclusion of practically all other fraffic.

Explaining his action, Mr. Hines said: "Breause of the imperative necessity of providing greater movement of bulk grain, the grain-loading railroads serving the grain-producing states have been given instructions to give preference and priority to the furnishing of box cars for bulk grain loading from Pebruary 8 to February 18, inclusive, after providing for the loading of less-

Attempts by the defense to search motives of witnesses in certain campaign acts were also halted by the court. The question came up in the cross-examination of Lyle Shanahan, who testified he had received $40 from J. P. Harris, chairman of the Newberry committee in his county, of which he was a member.

Mr. Littleton asked the witness if he considered he had done any wrong in accepting the money, which brought a successful objection from Frank C. Dailey, Assistant Attorney General. Similarly the government blocked questioning of Chappelle as to his ideas on the morality of the expression regarding "freight."

Promise of Barrel of Money
"It will be a great time for the boys in Michigan, because they will spend a barrel of money," the witness quoted Cody as saying.

He asserted that in his talks with Newberry about the Senatorial campaign he was shown letters and telegrams from Paul H. King and that Newberry told him he "was kept posted almost daily" on happenings in Michigan.

Sweinhart said he remembered one specific conversation with Cody in Newberry's office, "It related to money," he said. "Cody told me he had been to Michigan and said, "The lid is off out there. The sky is the limit."

W. P. Frost, former lieutenant commander in the navy and now an ink manufacturer in New York, said he called at Newberry's office virtually every day and saw Cody there many times.
